

TWO BRAVE FIREMEN IN LINE FOR THE TIMES' MEDALS.

Jack Nangle and Michael A. Frolley Saved a Young Boy's Life.

Willie Greenfelt, Enveloped in Flames, Rescued From Death.

Large Crowd Gathered About Scene and Applauded Fire Laddies.

Two local firemen in line for The Times' medals offered for bravery displayed while on duty, are "Jack" Nangle and Michael A. Frolley, both members of Truck C Company, at Fourteenth Street and Ohio Avenue.

While Willie Greenfelt, son of a prominent veterinary surgeon having an office at 210 Fourteenth Street northwest, and several other small boys were playing on the gasoline barrels in the automobile barn near Fourteenth Street and Ohio Avenue northwest, Willie became saturated with gasoline and later was set afire.

Started for Home.

With his clothing ablaze, flames licking him on all sides, and screaming for help at the top of his voice, the frightened lad started on a run for his home. Nangle, who is considered one of the most modest heroes on the local fire fighting force, and who blushing admits that this is his second offense, was standing out in front of Truck C headquarters with Frolley, and the two stalwart young fire laddies saw the boy's danger in an instant. They reached the side of the lad and soon extinguished the flames, which would have killed the boy within a few moments. They then sent him to the Emergency Hospital, where he was treated for burns about the face and hands, but nothing more serious.

The method used in extinguishing the flames which had eaten practically all the back out of the boy's clothing, was unique. Nangle saw the boy was holding his head high in the air and grasping for breath, and knew the youngster was breathing the flames. He placed his hand over Willie's mouth and then called to Frolley to tear the coat from the boy's back. Frolley did so in an instant and then the two firemen began to beat the remaining sparks out with their hands.

Crowds Saw Act.

When the boy first started on his run for life there were about five persons on the street. His frantic screams and the heroic actions of the two firemen attracted a larger crowd every moment, and after it was all over there were more than a thousand curious and equally admiring persons on the scene. They surged around the hospital waiting to hear how the boy was and later a number of the persons called at Truck C headquarters and congratulated the two young firemen.

MICHAEL FROLLEY,
A chum of Nangle, who helped save Willie Greenfelt's life.

Nangle will be remembered as the man who climbed up a ladder several months ago and rescued Mrs. Haldeman from a burning building on Pennsylvania Avenue, between Seventeenth and Eighteenth Streets northwest. He is twenty-six years old, looks like a boy in his teens and has been a member of the Fire Department for five years. He and Frolley are chums and room together at 1557 C Street southwest. Frolley is twenty-four years old and was appointed a member of the Fire Department on July 1, 1903. Although this is his first venture before the "lime light," he is a bright, sturdy young man, and, judging from his past record and his aptitude, he has a bright career before him.

PRANK SCARES WOMAN TO DEATH

Deprives 1,500 Families of Their Fuel.

PARTLY WRECKS A HOUSE

Wedding Broken Up in South Sharon as Result of Small Boy's Act.

SHARON, Pa., April 2.—As the result of a prank of a mischievous boy, a woman was frightened to death, a house blown almost to pieces, costly machinery was destroyed by fire, fifteen hundred families were deprived of fuel and a wedding party was broken up in South Sharon.

A crowd was serenading the young couple when a boy climbed the exhaust pipe of the Oil City Fuel Supply Company and lighted the escaping gas. An explosion followed, throwing the boy twenty feet, but he disappeared in the crowd.

All lights in the neighborhood were extinguished and the wedding guests fled in terror. The burning gas destroyed the regulator and other costly machinery, causing a loss of several thousand dollars. Mrs. Martha Laughtry, a widow, was just lighting the gas in a stove when the extra pressure caused an explosion that partly wrecked the house.

Mrs. Laughtry died in the street, where she died from fright. The supply of gas was cut off and fifteen hundred families are without fuel. No trace of the boy who caused the trouble has been found.

BODY OF AN INFANT FOUND IN FURNACE

LINCOLN, Neb., April 2.—The body of an infant was found yesterday in the furnace of the Lincoln Medical College. It was discovered by a student, who acts as janitor, and who pulled the charred body from the coals.

The police say the baby was undoubtedly alive when it was thrown in, and that it was several days old.

COULD NOT FIND "CLEAN" PRINTER

Dowie Wanted One Without Bad Habits.

SWORE, DRANK OR CHEWED

Unsuccessful Mission of Agent From Zion City Among the Wicked Typos of Chicago.

CHICAGO, April 2.—M. N. Price, superintendent of the printing plant in Dowie's Zion City, has been in Chicago two days looking for a printer who does not chew, smoke, drink or swear. He has not yet found his man.

Mr. Price examined fifty printers at union headquarters. As a last resort Henry L. Bush, the moral cynosure of the union, was brought forth. Bush is on a strike.

"Will you give me your word of honor that you have not used profane or violent language, and will not use it, should you go to Zion?" Mr. Price asked.

"I have never been a swearing man," replied Bush, "and I would like the job. But I cannot tell a lie. Since the strike was called I have said things that would not go into a sermon by the 'overseer' without causing gossip."

Mr. Price left the office convinced that he would have to train an expert.

STOLE A SHAVING MUG AND A WOMAN'S SKIRT

Articles valued at $35 were stolen from the home of C. L. Fowler, 1013 North Capitol Street, early yesterday morning.

The Fowlers have a scant supply of night keys, and kept one in a nook in the front vestibule, so that all of the persons living in the house can use it. A stranger, who evidently saw the key used and replaced, went to the vestibule, found the key and entered the house, ransacking the rooms on the lower floor. He stole anything he saw, from a shaving mug with a broken brush to a child's coat and a woman's black skirt. Complaint was made to the police about the "forcible entry."

LABORERS STRIKE ON THE ISTHMUS

Demand More Pay and an Eight-Hour Day.

HURTS STEAMSHIP LINES

Advance of 80 Cents Wanted by Railroad Employes, Who Are Receiving $2.20.

PANAMA, April 2.—The railroad laborers have started a general strike to enforce their demand for an eight-hour day and an advance of 80 cents a day in their wages. Heretofore they received $2.20, silver, for a ten-hour day.

Superintendent Shaler is conferring with Manager Paine, who is temporarily on the Isthmus, but nothing definite has been arranged. Owing to the fact that it is now the coffee season, the strike will cause great inconvenience to the steamship companies.

MYSTERY HANGS OVER DEATH OF MABEL PAGE

BOSTON, April 2.—Excitement over the murder of Mabel Page, whose body was found in her home in Weston Thursday with several knife wounds upon it, continues. Theory upon theory is advanced, but as not the slightest clue was left by the perpetrator of the crime, the mystery is as far from being unraveled as it was when the deed was first discovered.

ACUTE INDIGESTION CAUSED DEATH OF NEGRO

Suddenly stricken with acute indigestion while working at the Washington Brick and Terra Cotta Company's plant, Third and O Streets southwest, yesterday afternoon, about 2 o'clock, John Simms, a negro, forty-five years old, died before the physician accompanying the Emergency Hospital ambulance could reach the yard.

Simms lived near Thirteenth and B Streets northwest. After coroner Neve issued a certificate of death from natural causes, the remains were taken in charge by relatives.

Men's Names Changed In Military Records

Ulysses Simpson Grant White Was Appointed to West Point as Ulysses Grant White, Named From Famous General.

Among the navy orders a few days ago was one to the effect that Civil Engineer Ulysses Simpson Grant White should be detached from duty at Honolulu and ordered home. The fact that one of the papers referred to him as U. G. White recalled some examples of the changes in names of army and navy officers.

In the case of Civil Engineer White, who was from Georgetown, Ohio, the early home of General Grant, he was appointed to West Point as Ulysses Grant White, but when he was transferred to the navy, seven years later, his commission was made out to Ulysses Simpson Grant White, and he has since been so known. It will be recalled that General Grant originally was named Hiram Ulysses, but when he received his appointment as a cadet at West Point his name was entered as Ulysses Simpson, and by that he was afterward known.

Some Other Instances.

Other instances of changes in names may be noted, as the following: Gen. Zachariah Taylor became Zachary Taylor. Capt. John Stewart was known in Scotland as John Stuart, but when he enlisted in the army as a private in 1857 his name was written "Stewart," and it so remained. Major Mason Carter enlisted as a private in 1860 under the name of "Howard," but he resumed his family name, Carter, soon after he was commissioned as a lieutenant in the 15th Infantry, in 1862.

Brig. Gen. George B. Dandy, who also was promoted from the ranks, subsequently dropped the "F." from his name. Maj. Gen. Nathaniel (not Nathaniel) Greene, was originally carried on the old army records as "Nathan" Greene, and later his name was changed to Nathaniel. Gen. F. G. T. Beauregard, son of James T. Beauregard, of Beauregard, France, who was born near New Orleans, was originally named Pierre Gustave Tautant, but when he went to West Point as a cadet he was entered under the name of Beauregard.

John James Alexander Alfred Moulton, another West Pointer, who was graduated in 1880, but resigned three months later, dropped the "Alexander" out of his name, and after being commissioned in the Confederate service became Alfred Moulton, and when killed in battle his name so appeared on the records. Arnold E. Jones changed his name upon graduation from West Point in 1887 to Arnold Elzey, and he was conspicuous in the Mexican War, especially at Contreras and Churubusco; later he was a major general in the Confederate service. Major William D. Fraser, another Mexican war hero, was plain William Smith when he entered West Point, but was graduated under the name of Fraser.

Lieut. George R. Sullivan, who was graduated at West Point in 1829, was appointed under the name of George R. J. Bowdoin, but changed his name to that of Sullivan afterward. Major Micah John Jenkins was a graduate of West Point in 1853, was the son of Confederate Gen. Micah Jenkins, and, to be like his father, he dropped the John.

Another West Pointer whose name was changed was Gen. Samuel M. Westmore. He was a graduate of West Point in 1827 as Stephen W. Moore, but he changed his name to Samuel W. Westmore, and later to Samuel M. Westmore. His son, who was a surgeon in the army, with the rank of major, and Confederate service, retained the family name and was Samuel P. Moore. Quartermaster Sewall L. Fremont entered the Military Academy as Sewall L. Fisher, but changed his name soon afterward.

In the Navy.

In the navy there have been fewer changes in names, apparently. James Fenimore Cooper, the famous author, was a midshipman in 1811 as plain James Cooper, but he added Fenimore, his mother's family name, to his name soon after he resigned from the navy. Alexander Siddell, who was appointed midshipman in 1815, changed his name before his graduation to Alexander Siddell MacKenzie, in spite of a protest sent to the Navy Department.

Among others whose names have been changed are ex-President Cleveland, Alexander H. Stephens, vice president of the Confederate States, and Gen. J. Patton Anderson, a leading member of the Confederate Congress. Mr. Cleveland's name was originally Stephen Grover, but he in early life dropped Stephen. Mr. Stephens was plain Alexander until he added Hamilton as his middle name in honor of a favorite school teacher who was named for the famous statesman who fought the duel with Aaron Burr. Mr. Anderson did not like his first name, John, and always signed his name Patton Anderson.

ENGLAND MAY MOVE TROOPS TO CANADA

Would Have Regiments Nearer the Far East.

DISPOSITION OF FORCES

Will Be So Stationed That Mobilization on Western Coast Could Be Speedily Accomplished.

HALIFAX, N. S., April 2.—The military authorities are expecting that ten line regiments will be stationed in Canada as follows:

Two at Halifax, one each at St. John, Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa or Toronto, Winnipeg, Calgary, and two on the Pacific station.

The intention is that in the event of certain developments that are among the possibilities in the Far East, the regiments would not only be nearer the scene where their services would be needed, but would be so stationed that each regiment could move westward at short notice without in any way interfering with or delaying the westward progress of the others, and would arrive at the Pacific station in such way as to expedite the work of embarking for transportation by water.

PERIODICAL PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION BANQUET

The Periodical Publishers' Association will give a banquet at the New Willard on the night of April 7, at which a number of prominent men have been invited to speak. President Roosevelt has promised to be present, and Governor Odell, of New York, and Henry Watterston, will also address the association.

This association is made up chiefly of New Yorkers and Philadelphians, and special trains from those two cities will bring members to Washington on Thursday.

The Advent of The Steinway Vertegrand

Has stirred musical circles more than anything else that has happened within recent years. Novelty does not always mean improvement, but in the Vertegrand a big stride has been made in piano making. In the Vertegrand the rich tonal qualities of a grand piano are contained in a case of convenient size for a lady's boudoir or a small parlor.

No need to say that the scale is perfect and the tone glorious, for it is a Steinway production.

DUCK EGGS AND HENS. WORTH $23.50, ARE LOST

Owner Could Identify Feathers of the Devoured Birds.

The disappearance of a case of duck eggs valued at $12, and twenty-three chickens worth $11.50, was reported to the police by two local market dealers yesterday.

The eggs belonged to J. N. Elgin, of Clifton, Fairfax county, Va. He came to the city yesterday to sell them and left them at Eleventh and B Streets northwest, while he went around to see how much the market men would pay for them. When he returned, the case and eggs were gone.

An unknown negro with a long reach took twenty-three fat pullets yesterday from the roost in William Sedenburg's henhouse, Spring Street and Cedar Lane, Mount Pleasant. The owner says he can identify the feathers if the birds have been eaten. The police are investigating the two cases.

IMPORTANT TO WOMEN!

EVERY WOMAN knows that the secret happy life lies in preserving the charms she already has, or in restoring those she has lost. She may have the sweetest disposition in the world, but unless nature has bestowed upon her a clear complexion, rounded features, a well-turned neck, and beautiful bust, she is socially handicapped. Men are attracted and held by these charms, and she is a wise woman who will strive by every means to preserve or restore these blessings.
